

ANIMAL MEDICAL ACADEMY & HOSPITAL (HONG KONG)

•Specialist in Internal Medicine • Oncology•

AMAH is a first opinion operator in the local veterinary profession and also serves as a referral centre for the local area. Hong Kong is a metropolis with a population of over 7 million. Despite its dense urban environment, more than 70% of Hong Kong's total area is rural, including about 40% designated as protected country parks and nature reserves.

Currently, with over 10 senior veterinarians, including 4 registered specialists, and we are looking for more like-minded colleagues.

The hospital is equipped with the state of the art diagnostic, monitoring and surgical equipment such as GE's new high-end medical imaging equipment including 1.5T MRI, CT, C-arm Fluoroscopy, Digital X-ray, Logic E10s, and Vivid E95 ultrasound equipment, IDEXX analyzer, endoscopy, Synthes Orthopedic system and equipment.

All facilities, including four sterile surgical theaters, recovery and intensive wards, chemo room, dental suites, and isolation wards, are designed according to the AAHA standard and the Fear Free concept.

For overseas applicants, vet specialists from Europe and North America who have lived in Hong Kong for over 10 years are handy for some advice. Their first-hand experience in Hong Kong will help the applicants better understand various aspects such as the culture, the standard of life, taxation and the working environment, etc. We also support applying for professional registration and work visas in Hong Kong.

An excellent remuneration package including housing allowance, study leave, medical insurance will be offered to the successful candidate. Travel expenses for an interview will be provided by AMAH.
