Clinician in Small Animal Cardiology
Vacancy Ref: 157813
Competitive salary, generous OOH supplement and employer pension contribution

The University of Glasgow's School of Biodiversity, One Health and Vet Medicine invites applications to appoint a Clinician in Small Animal Cardiology to deliver an efficient and effective cardiology service by providing expertise and clinical activity in the Small Animal Hospital. You will enhance and develop the delivery of clinical teaching to undergraduates and clinical scholars as well as undertaking clinical research/scholarship within the cardiology service thereby contributing to the School objectives relevant to national and international excellence in clinical service, teaching and research.

The successful candidate will be based in our award-winning Small Animal Hospital on the beautiful Garscube estate. This busy multidisciplinary hospital is staffed by a team of specialists in surgery, internal medicine, cardiology, neurology, imaging, anaesthesia, oncology and ophthalmology. State of the art facilities available on-site include 1.5T MRI, CT, linear accelerator, digital radiography, and four fully equipped surgical theatres. Our 'One Hospital' team ethos ensures exceptional clinical care can be delivered to our patients, and supports the continual professional development of our vets, nurses and support staff.

We welcome applications from candidates who hold an RCVS registrable degree and postgraduate clinical qualification in cardiology or eligibility to take qualifying diploma examination and a diploma in veterinary cardiology.

Informal enquiries should be directed to Ms Alison Ridyard, Alison.Ridyard@glasgow.ac.uk or Dr Frane Ivasovic, Frane.Ivasovic@glasgow.ac.uk
