

THE UNIVERSITY of EDINBURGH
The Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies

Lecturer or Senior Lecturer in Small Animal Oncology
Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies/Hospital for Small Animals
UE08-UE09 (according to experience)
Open ended
35 hours per week

Your next step starts here. Be part of something bigger. We are looking for a Senior Lecturer in Small Animal Oncology.

The University of Edinburgh is a world-class organisation. We look for the best in the field across all disciplines and provide a working environment where academics can develop their careers and passion for their chosen subject area. We offer the full range of academic roles and have a genuine focus on our students' performance and wellbeing.

The Opportunity:

This is an excellent opportunity to join a busy, world-renowned oncology service, providing medical oncology expertise in the School's Hospital for Small Animals, as well as the delivery and assessment of our BVM&S undergraduate degree programme and postgraduate training and education programmes. You will be working alongside other Diplomates in Small Animal Oncology and Radiation Oncology, five medical oncology (and one radiation oncology) residents, one oncology clinician teacher (intern), five specialised oncology nurses, and two therapeutic radiographers. Moreover, you will be working alongside specialists across numerous other disciplines such as Surgery, Internal Medicine, Emergency and Critical Care, Neurology, Cardiology, Diagnostic Imaging, Anaesthesia, Ophthalmology, Dermatology, and others, to provide the best possible care for each and every patient.

The Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies is an ideal environment to develop or further nurture your clinical interests and research ambitions from a campus with strong collaborative links. The Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies is situated on the Easter Bush Campus 6 miles south of Edinburgh on the edge of the Pentland Hills and houses outstanding teaching and clinical facilities (including on site radiation therapy facilities lead by a specialist in Radiation Oncology) as well as the Roslin Institute, one of the world's leading veterinary research centres.

This post is full-time (35 hours per week).

The salary for this post starts at £50,253 (UE08) or £63,606 (UE09) per annum according to experience plus Market Force Supplement (reviewed annually, currently 8%), and CPD allowance.

Click here to view the copy of the full Senior Lecturer in Small Animal Oncology job description (opens in a new browser tab)

Click here to view the copy of the full Lecturer in Small Animal Oncology job description (opens in a new browser tab)

Your skills and attributes for success:

- Post-graduate experience and further qualification in Small Animal Oncology, at ECVIM or ACVIM Diploma-holder level (board certified, or board eligible)
- A degree registrable with the RCVS
- Experience in teaching, learning and assessment in a veterinary school
- An ability to work alone but also to supervise and instruct colleagues and students
- Demonstrable research output (clinical and/or basic science/translational)
- Appropriate English language certificate

Informal enquiries should be directed to laura.blackwood@ed.ac.uk.

How to apply

Please include the following documents in your application:

- CV
- Cover letter

As a valued member of our team, you can expect:

- A competitive salary.
- An exciting, positive, creative, challenging and rewarding place to work.
- To be part of a diverse and vibrant international community.
- Comprehensive Staff Benefits, including generous annual leave entitlement, a defined benefits pension scheme, a wide range of staff discounts, family-friendly initiatives, and flexible work options. Check out the full list on our staff benefits page (opens in a new tab) and use our reward calculator to discover the value of your pay and benefits.

Championing equality, diversity, and inclusion

The University of Edinburgh holds a Silver Athena SWAN award in recognition of our commitment to advance gender equality in higher education. We are members of the Race Equality Charter, and we are also Stonewall Scotland Diversity Champions, actively promoting LGBT equality.

We welcome applications from all qualified candidates.

Prior to any employment commencing with the University, you will be required to evidence your right to work in the UK. Further information is available on our right to work webpages (opens new browser tab)

The University is able to sponsor the employment of international workers in this role. If successful, an international applicant requiring sponsorship to work in the UK will need to satisfy the UK Home Office's English Language requirements and apply for and secure a Skilled Worker Visa.

Key dates to note

The closing date for applications is 26 October 2026

Unless stated otherwise the closing time for applications is 11:59pm UK time. If you are applying outside the UK the closing time on our adverts automatically adjusts to your browsers local time zone.