Internal Medicine Specialist

Optivet Referrals, Hampshire, PO9 2NJ, England

Optivet Referrals is an independent referral centre staffed by a friendly and inclusive team – more of a family than a corporate environment.

We are aligned around a set of strong core values which help us to deliver contextualised specialist-led care to our patients and their owners – we truly treat patients as if they are our own pets.

We are one of the world's leading veterinary ophthalmology centres and also have a team of top specialists in surgery, medicine and anaesthesia – we all support each other unreservedly. In particular, medicine and soft tissue surgery work seamlessly, often sharing cases together for the benefit of patient and owner.

If you are a medicine specialist looking for the opportunity to lead an already thriving medicine service and shape your own future then we would love to talk to you.

Our ideal candidate will want to be more than just a clinician – someone keen to build relationships with referring vets and grow a caring and dynamic medicine care offering within a wider service (and be involved in the financials behind the care).

You will have the freedom to develop services for any areas of interest that you have.

Facilities include a 128-slice CT scanner and all the other equipment that you may need.
