Cardiologist | Full-Time | Sydney, Australia

Grow a 30-year cardiology service. Full interventional facilities, weekday-focused hours, and visa and relocation support in Sydney.

About Us

NSVSC is a leading 24/7 multidisciplinary referral hospital located on Sydney's North Shore. Our specialists in Surgery, Internal Medicine, Anaesthesia, Emergency & Critical Care, Exotics, Cardiology and Oncology work alongside experienced clinicians and highly skilled support staff to deliver exceptional patient care in a truly collaborative environment.

Our purpose-built facility is equipped to support the highest standard of cardiology care, including:

- Full interventional suite, including pacemaker implantation capacity
- In-house echocardiography (dedicated GE Vivid S60N ultrasound), ECG and Holter monitoring
- Comprehensive diagnostic imaging — a 128-slice GE CT scanner and a Siemens 1.5T MRI
- Digital X-ray, fluoroscopy and endoscopy
- Fully equipped in-house laboratory (biochemistry, haematology and blood gas)

We pride ourselves on fostering a culture where collaboration and clinical excellence are part of everyday practice.

About the Role

As a senior cardiologist, you'll have the opportunity to join an established referral service with a diverse clinical caseload. You'll provide specialist consultations, echocardiography and interventional cardiac procedures.

Working closely with our Internal Medicine, Surgery and Emergency & Critical Care teams, you'll contribute to a collaborative multidisciplinary approach to complex cases and help shape the future growth of the cardiology service.

This is a predominantly weekday-based position, with no routine weekend roster. Occasional on-call availability may be required for urgent cardiology cases, with an appropriate call-in fee.

About You

- Diplomate status (ACVIM (Cardiology), ECVIM-CA (Cardiology), FANZCVS or equivalent)
- Eligibility for veterinary registration in New South Wales
- A passion for mentoring, collaboration and delivering exceptional patient care
- A desire to lead and develop an established cardiology service

Why Join Us?
